Customer Reviews

I really enjoyed both books They were different yet the offered the same kind of romance and heat I love. I read one of her books before this one and went shopping right away for more of her writing. That's where I'm headed now

When the cruise ship Audra Dawn works on docks in Brazil for Carnival, she decides to indulge herself in the lively festival. It's a wild and sensual time, and after working steadily for three years she's in desperate need of a break. Putting on a floral domino mask and a sexy outfit, she joins the throng and lets herself be swept up in the atmosphere, the pulsing excitement, and straight into the arms of a dashing masked man. His desire for her is overwhelming, and after a crazy night of love she wakes to find only his mask on the pillow. When she returns to New Orleans to finish school, she learns she's pregnant and she has to refocus her life's plans. In a twist of fate, young Audra accidentally finds the identity of the baby's father... billionaire playboy, Kenneth Steele. The least she can do is let him know she's carrying his child and see if he wants to help. When she contacts him she steps into a confused triangle of love and mistaken identities, misplaced jealousy, and fears of intimacy. It was a good read. A bit slow at first, but it definitely picks up later and things get very interesting.

I enjoy these romance novels when they are full stories. I do believe in interracial relationships.

It's well written but parts are very fast unrealistic paced. Both stories are better than a lot on this site.
3.5 stars..

The flow and plot were good. It was good all the characters intertwined with each other. It showed real love!
