Customer Reviews

My father read these books by James Oliver Curwood decades ago, and he allowed me to read one when I was 14 years old. I loved the book then. Whenever offered a large collection on Kindle, I was very happy. I have not yet read the entire collection - I am now reading the 12th of 22 books. Every one have I read is very interesting. They usually have a setting of the far frozen north country of Canada, action taking place usually in the wilderness. There is always some danger and/or mystery involved along with a great deal of adventure. They are very enjoyable books to read.

I first read Curwood when I was a teen ager. I have never forgotten his ability to describe in prose the people and areas of Canada, including the wonderful scenery and the brutal weather. Two stories are about animals - one a wolf/dog and one a bear. They are the best I have ever read.

Written in the style of back when Zane Grey was in his hayday. I originally read The Hunted Woman because a great great Uncle was the model of one of the characters in the book. Bought the collection and am working on reading them all.

This collection may not be complete, but it DOES contain Curwood's best and most important works. The only real items left out are his very early work for his hometown newspaper, as well as, other papers; and his stories published only in magazines. An Excellent Collection!

I am so enjoying this collection from an author from my hometown of Owosso, Michigan. It is so thrilling to me to know my hometown bred this very talented author.
